

Task #73: Database Migration

The old database used mysql for the website.

I think that we will be able to use most of the old database. The issues we will run into is that most of this code is azure apps so it will be hard to transfer most of the proprietary software to the new services.